PALACE OF THE GOVERNORS

Christmas, Fred Harvey, Las Posadas and More

December Events at the New Mexico History Museum

Friday, Dec. 5, 6 pm, Free First Friday Gallery Talk: “Mapping New Mexico”

As New Mexico morphed into the state we know today, its paper outlines changed the lives of those who called it home. Gather in the exhibition Telling New Mexico: Stories from Then and Now, where Librarian Tomas Jaehn will demonstrate those changes via maps, plus explain a cartographic error that determined who was American and who was Mexican. Free admission from 5–8 pm.

Sunday, Dec. 7, opening of *Setting the Standard: The Fred Harvey Company and Its Legacy

Be among the first to see this Mezzanine-area addition to the museum’s main exhibit, Telling New Mexico. Curated by Meredith Davidson, Setting the Standard focuses on the rise of the Fred Harvey Company as a family business and the key roles played by New Mexico in its evolution—including the invention of the Harvey Girls and the birth of cultural tourism. Opening events:

10 am–5 pm, on the hour, see The Harvey Girls: Opportunity Bound, a 57-minute documentary, in the museum auditorium

2 pm, gather in the auditorium for a conversation with curator Meredith Davidson, documentary producer Katrina Parks, and Stephen Fried, author of the acclaimed biography Appetite for America

3–4 pm, refreshments in the lobby

Free with admission; Sundays free to NM residents; children 16 and under free daily
